

Brent Flory, February's Artist of the Month at Wasatch County Library, stands with one of his recent paintings. His work will be on display February 15 through March 28. Flory's latest work is a series entitled "Carousel Fantasies".

Flory Presents Show as Artist of Month

February 20 marks the opening of Brent Flory's art show held at the Wasatch County Library. Flory's current work entitled the 'Carousel Fantasies' is a series of limited edition prints of carousel horses that are magical images. He hopes these images transport people on dream-like journeys. Flory says, "To me, the carousel horse represents the simplicity and the innocence of a different age." Other work Flory has done includes western and wildlife subject matter.

Brent Flory graduated from Brigham Young University in 1989 with a degree in Illustration. Since graduating, his work has been shown in numerous exhibitions throughout the United States and Canada. Brent has won many awards including 1st place honorable mention in the Miniature Painter's and Graver's Society's, 57th international Exhibition in Washington D C, the Grumbacher Gold Medal Award in Casein and Acrylic. In the National Society of Painters 38th Annual Exhibition in New York. His work was judged Best of Show twice at The Artists Alpine Holiday in Ouray, Colorado.

The carousel horse represents the simplicity and innocence of a different age.

Flory has also won a 1st place in the Wind River Valley National Art Exhibit in Dubois, Wyoming.

Brent, his wife, and five children live in Wallsburg, and manage a 1050 acre cattle and horse ranch. Summer is a busy time at the ranch, however, winter allows him more time to devote to his art.

The public is invited to an opening reception on February 20, from 6:30 to 8:00 pm. Refreshments will be provided. The Artist of the Month is co-sponsored by The Heber Valley Arts Council and The Friends of The Library.

Sundance Theatre Announces Auditions for "Gypsy"

The Sundance Theatre Program announces auditions for their summer musical production of GYPSY, which will perform six nights a week, excluding Sundays, at the Sundance Resort June 24 through August 29, 1998.

Auditions will take place March 6, 7, and 8 at Orem High School. Call back auditions are scheduled for Monday, March 9. Open calls which do not require an appointment time are: Saturday, March 7 from 10 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. and Sunday, March 8 from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. Those individuals wishing to schedule an appointment may call Martina at the Sundance Institute at (801) 328-3456 beginning Wednesday, February 18.

Actors should bring a resume and recent photo and prepare 16 bars of a song, not from the GYPSY score. Some actors will be asked to dance and to read from the script as well. The Sundance Theatre production of GYPSY adheres to a policy of colorblind casting and performers of all ethnic backgrounds are welcome.

Actors must be available for all daytime rehearsals which commence on May 26 and are held in the Provo/Orem area and at Sundance.

All roles are available and all positions are paid. The female characters include: "Mama Rose", who is in her mid-40's to mid-50's and is a powerful and charismatic actor and belt singer; "Louise," a teenager who can sing and move well; "June," also in her teens, who is pert and who can sing and tap well. There are three comic strippers in their 30's or 40's: "Electra," "Mazeppa" (who understudies "Mama Rose") and "Tessie Tura," none of whom removes any clothing. Male roles include "Herbie," mid-40's to mid-50's, which is a strong acting role and requires some singing and dancing, and three 'character men' in their 50's who each play three different parts. There are roles for four men in their 20's who are strong dancers/singers including tap dancers.

In addition, there are roles for five girls and five boys, ages 8 through 14, who can sing and dance well. All applicants are welcome to audition for any of the parts.

Job Corps Begins New Recruitment Campaign in Utah

Job Corps, the 33-year-old U.S. Department of Labor program which provides young people with the opportunity to learn a trade and start a career, has launched a regionwide recruitment campaign for 1998.

The campaign will notify young adults about Job Corps Centers throughout Region VII/VIII, including the centers in Utah—Clearfield Job Corps Center in Clearfield and Weber Basin Civilian Conservation Center in Ogden.

The recruitment campaign will target motivated young people between the ages of 16 through 24 who wish to take advantage of the education and trade opportunities offered through Job Corps, officials said.

"Job Corps has a long history of training successful graduates in a variety of fields," said John I. Douglas, regional director. "A Job Corps education gives graduates a new outlook and a new start."

As part of the Labor Department's Employment and Training Administration, Job Corps provides high school diploma and GED classes, as well as vocational training and job placement in food service, warehousing, welding, business/clerical, bricklaying, carpentry, heavy equipment operations and mechanics, painting, building and apartment maintenance, forestry, diesel mechanic, dental assistant, medical assistant, and landscaping. A primarily residential program.

Job Corps provides students with room, board and some spending money while they learn. Some centers offer non-residential programs and provide day care for students' children.

"I'm confident the new recruitment campaign will reach many young people looking for the opportunities Job Corps offers," Douglas said.

Job Corps Region VII/VIII, headquartered in Kansas City and Denver, administers 14 training centers and oversees outreach and placement activities for students in Montana, North and South Dakota, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. Depending on vocational interest, Job Corps applicants can be assigned to any of the centers in the region.

Those who want to learn more about Job Corps and what it has to offer can call (800) 426-5627 in Utah or visit the Job Corps web site at www.jobcorps.org.

percent 30-year fixed loan on a $234,000 loan. Borrower "B" splits the $234,000 loan into two loans - a 7.25 percent 30-year fixed loan of $195,000 and a 7.375 percent 5-year ARM loan on the remaining $39,000. After 10 years, borrower "A" has paid a total $196,339.20, while borrower "B" has paid $191,952.00 - a $4,387.20 difference.

"The 'blended' loan allows borrowers to save hundreds, if not thousands, of dollars over the life of their loan," Wall said. "The difference is seen immediately, too, with lower monthly payments."
